

Make Yourself at Home in Houston

Houston, the fourth largest city in the U.S. and the largest in Texas, is among the most desirable cities for relocating families. Low interest rates and excellent housing choices in every price range make Houston an ideal market to purchase a home. Other factors contribute to Houston's vibrant and unique quality of life including:

- * Stable housing market with prices well below the national average
- * Low cost of living in comparison to most other major metro areas
- * Housing options in both urban and outlying communities
- * Thriving economy, with steady job growth and a talented workforce
- * Major corporate sector and hub for international business
- * Superior medical care and facilities, including the Texas Medical Center, the world's largest medical complex
- * Top-quality school systems, universities and colleges
- * Active visual and performing arts scene

For more information on the Houston housing market and low interest rates, contact Crestmark Mortgage at 713.744.1200.

www.CrestmarkMortgage.com